Long Tail Pro Review

Long Tail Pro is the name of a software which helps you to look for keywords and get you a lot of free traffic, enables you to analyze your competition and to monitor your ranking in the major search engines so that within a week your website or blog will be ranking high in Google. This software does these three functions with a speed that is faster than the ones you may be familiar with already, like Market Samurai. And the price is way below the price of similar products.

Ways of Getting Website Traffic

Before I get into the specifics of Long Tail Pro I want to give you a background of how I get traffic so that you can appreciate better the function of softwares in helping you to get free traffic.

When I was new to internet marketing I tried all sorts of ways to get free traffic or exposure of my websites and blogs. I tried email marketing, safelists, traffic exchanges, social bookmarking, article writing, etc. You may have guessed the result of my effort in these methods: almost none that was of profit, except for article marketing. Viewers would click the link to my website or blogs but that is all. I suspect that they left immediately, that they did not even bother to read two sentences in my website or blog.

Then I discovered that if I want to get real people interested in what I was writing I would have to use the keywords these people are typing into their computer to look for what interested them. This was the turning point in my search for plenty of valuable traffic, views by people who would read what I wrote because they were interested in what I put in my website or blogs.

Softwares Which Help Keyword Search

Then I further discovered that there were softwares which would actually look for these keywords that people type on their computer as they search for something that interests them. Some of these are free, like the Google Adword Keyword Tool, the Wordtracker. Others are to be paid, like Market Samurai, Keyword Sniper Pro, Micro Niche Finder, SEO Power Suite, and Long Tail Pro. I tried them. And this really gave me lots of traffic.

What I like with these softwares is that they automate the process of searching for these keywords. All I have to do is select a good domain name from the keywords generated by the software, and write articles around these keywords. The rest is people viewing and reading my blogs and websites.

Using these keywords generated by the softwares, I was pleasantly surprised when I found out that my blogs were ranking very high in Google, I who am just a simple writer in the Philippines. People were indeed reading my posts. And many of them subscribed to my blogs.

Long Tail Pro

On my using Long Tail Pro I was very pleased with the very fast speed it generated keywords. And there are so many filters to choose so that I get only the keywords that are most profitable. There is even a filter to limit the amount of Cost Per Click or CPC and I can put the actual amount.

With Long Tail Pro I can analyze my competition and I am able to get keywords with low competition. This means there is more likelihood of people preferring to click my links.

Finally I can monitor with this software where my rank is in Google and I can use linking with other websites and other methods to get a higher ranking in Google.

A Surprise Guarantee

I found this kind of guarantee in this product only: immediate refund of your money if you are not satisfied with the software. There is no waiting for 30 days or 45 days or 60 days. Use it and if you are not satisfied, you can get an immediate refund.

Drawbacks

One of the drawbacks I have experienced with this software Long Tail Pro is that there is a delay in receiving the license code. Other users of this software also experienced this delay. Of course there is an email address for support issues so that this problem can be solved.

Another drawback is that a user of this software needs to be careful lest his Google Adword account gets suspended or even cancelled. This can happen if he does not observe the search limit of this software. You can search for 5 keywords only simultaneously. There is also to be observed a 5 seconds delay between each query. Failure to observe this delay may also cause problems with your Google Adword account. This is explained in the manual accompanying this software upon purchase. Sometimes in our excitement we may forget this warning, as I did with my use of Facebook. I was twice suspended by Facebook because of my speed in clicking to add friends.

I mention here a minor drawback that is personal. Before using this software I thought that it would automatically give me long tail keywords, because that was its name, Long Tail Pro. I found out that this is not the case. I have to specify how many number of words I want in a keyword, 2 or 3 or 4 etc. For me the name does not exactly describe what it is.

Long Tail Pro has been in the market for two years now. It has been a successful product. It is being updated by the originator. He has three versions of this product: the Lite Version, the Full Version, and the Platinum Upgrade.
